

Big Delegation Arrives To Attend Opening Today Of Immense Baking Plant

Visitors Welcomed to Atlanta by Councilman A. J. Orme and Civic Club Representatives.

Featured by the attendance of 120 prominent business men from the north, the new $1,500,000 plant of the F. O. Stone Baking company at Highland avenue and Jackson street, will be christened today with a luncheon and inspection of the building.

The party of business men arrived at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon over the Southern railway, and was met at the Brookwood station by Councilman A. J. Orme and representatives of the chamber of commerce and civic clubs, together with Harry Tipton, president of the Southern Baking company, owners of the Stone Baking company.

In the party are: John L. Kirkland, of Wheeling, W. Va., a director of the Northwestern Miller, the leading paper of the milling industry; Frank Banford, of New York, editor of The Bakers' Weekly; George A. Zabriske, of New York, a director of the Pillsbury Flour Mills; Ferdinand B. Kaphs, of Kansas City, Mo., president of the Larabee Flour Mills; Percival Wilds, of Chamberlain, S. D., and Wilds, of New York, attorneys for the Southern Baking company; Harvey A. Moore, mayor of Charlotte, N. C.; John M. Scott, president of the Charlotte National bank; L. P. Ahlerson, vice president of the Manufacturers' Trust company, of New York; Barney Coombe, of Coombe, Kerr and Pratt, New York bankers and investment brokers; Albert Oetgen, of Oetgen and company, New York bankers; C. J. O'Rourke, of Brooklyn, N. Y., electrical contractor, and many others.

The visiting group of business men will be in Atlanta for three days, and will spend much time seeing the city. Today's luncheon at the plant, they will see the new bakery in operation and will inspect every detail of the building and machinery.

The new bakery is the finest in the south, and is the largest of a chain of 11 owned and operated by the Southern Baking company. Atlanta is operating headquarters for the entire chain.

Members of the visiting party of business men were greatly impressed Sunday afternoon with their first views of Atlanta, and expressed very encouraging opinions about this city's prospects for future growth and development in every line.

The location of the headquarters of the baking company's chain of plants in Atlanta is an expression of confidence in this city's future, they pointed out, and will mean a lot to Atlanta.

The Stone Baking company was acquired by the Southern Baking company a year ago, and construction of the new plant has begun almost immediately. F. O. Stone, founder of the local company, is one of the five directors and one of the largest stockholders in the Southern Baking company. The Stone Baking company is 10 years old, and has built up a great reputation throughout the south for the quality of its product.

The new plant is capable of an output of 75,000 loaves of bread and 50,000 pounds of cake every day, and will be served by 40 delivery trucks with a total force of 250 employees.

The plant will be open for public inspection every night this week from 7:30 to 10:30 o'clock.

1 KILLED, 5 WOUNDED IN ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE

It was heavily armed. Following the shooting, a man identified as an escaped convict was seen driving an automobile a few blocks from the county jail by a deputy sheriff.

Sheriff Chase today said that a distant whistle was heard a few minutes before the prisoners made their dash for liberty. Members of the sheriff's department Saturday decided to suspend the Sunday church services, believing the escape would be attempted then, leaving the deputies helpless in the confusion that would have resulted among the visitors.

Break Made At Breakfast.

The break was made while breakfast was being brought to the prisoners. Owing to the layout of the jail all foods must be served through the main entrance to the jail proper.

Acting Warden C. G. Pratt was stationed near the door, while Willie Moore, negro trusty, who was shot and killed, entered with a tray of food. As Moore stepped inside the door, one of the prisoners ran into him, knocking him to the floor. The rush for the door followed and Moore, apparently becoming confused, is said also to have started out of the building. He fell mortally wounded in the doorway.

Warden Pratt stepped into an adjoining corridor of the jail office for protection. The first fusillade of shots did not stop the prisoners, according to the deputy sheriffs. However, as the five men fell wounded, the others turned back into the jail.

Hayward Held on Kidnap Charge.

Raymond Hayward, the alleged leader, is in the county jail, having been bound over to the criminal court of record on a charge of kidnaping a boy and holding him prisoner. He has been in jail since early September. W. B. Henderson, who was wounded, was held in the same case. Grady Carroll, also wounded, is being held on a charge of grand larceny, and B. S. Westbury on a similar charge, having been committed to the county jail on September 20. Raymond Agnor is being held on charges of forgery, and Roy Durant on a charge of grand larceny.

Notified on September 10.

First information of the jail break was received by the sheriff September 10, a short time after Hayward confessed he was leader of the group attempting to escape, was confined in the county jail together with his companion, W. B. Henderson, on charges of kidnaping. After Deputy Sheriff Lawrence of Palm Beach warned local officials to be on watch, a note sent to Registrar a week ago a tip from an anonymous source was received, warning of the proposed outbreak. At that time extra guards were placed around the jail during the night and during meal hours.

During the past week tips from various sources reached the sheriff's office. It was also learned that an escaped convict from the state road camp at Mountstown, Fla., had previously been connected with Register.

ATLANTANS TOLD HOW CITY PROFITS BY FLORIDA TRADE

More than 275 prominent Atlantans were entertained at a banquet Saturday night at the Biltmore hotel by the Atlanta office of the Coral Gables, Fla., organization when Burton Menk, personal representative of George E. Williams, southern representative and others well-known in the Florida development, made addresses.

One of the principal objects of the meeting, according to W. A. J. Jr., of the Atlanta office, was to show the benefits, both direct and indirect, received by Atlanta and Georgia through the Florida development. Mr. Menk told of the aid being given Georgia industries by merchandise being shipped daily to southern Florida, and a leader in many civic advertising movements. Mr. Watkins will speak Tuesday at the Kiwanis club luncheon, which will be devoted to the Forward Atlanta campaign, and also address the freshmen class at Georgia Tech, speaking on future citizenship and civic ideals.

"To tell the world what Atlanta has" continue to pour in at headquarters from prominent Atlantans who pledge support and subscriptions. One of these came from a man who has spent several months in Florida.

"I have seen what civic advertising can do," he wrote, "and I am going to send a good-sized check to the fund. For I will always be an Atlantian, and what I make in Florida I am going to put into Atlanta dirt."

Nearly 50,000 rainbow trout eggs were recently shipped from Montana to Honolulu for transshipment to Hawaii for hatching.

DR. W. J. MAHONEY CONDUCTS REVIVAL AT BROOKHAVEN

Dr. William J. Mahoney, widely known lecturer and Baptist minister, fully developed the theme of his revival meetings at the Brookhaven Baptist church. His subject was "Who Then Is This?"

At the morning service and again at night Dr. Mahoney took occasion to denounce the positions and creedal teachings of both modernists and fundamentalists as "untrue to Scripture and the teachings of Christ."

"While the fundamentalist seeks to retard progress and development of the strength of his misconception and misinterpretation of the Bible, the modernist, to the other extreme, turns his vituperative tongue against the Bible and the very divinity of Christ. Himself, veiling his conceit under the misnomer of 'progress,' the speaker declared.

Dr. Mahoney will preach every night through Friday night at the Brookhaven church. Dr. F. J. Mashburn is the pastor.

POISONERS ARE GIVEN LONG PRISON TERMS

Marion, Ill., September 27.—(P)—The jury in the trial of Robert Tate and his wife, Ruby, charged with the poisoning of Mrs. Tate's first husband, Joseph Harrington, today agreed on a verdict of guilty. Mrs. Tate was sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary, while Tate was given 30 years' imprisonment. The jury deliberated for 13 hours.

FRENCH TO REJECT U. S. DEBT PROPOSAL

He will ask for an equally detailed explanation of the American counterproposal of Friday.

There are hopeful aspects of the situation. One of them is that Caillaux's action Monday may have been dictated pretty largely by what he has heard from Paris of the manner in which the French press has received the reports of the negotiations. Another is that Caillaux will escape the necessity of categorical rejection of the American proposal by rejecting it by inference. Thus he will say France cannot pay so much, and then will present data designed to convince the Americans that what he says is true, in an effort to get them to withdraw or to amend their proposal. Caillaux will speak to the American commission in English.

Reach Inevitable Crisis.

The debt negotiations now have reached the inevitable crisis that seems to be inherent in international negotiations of all kinds. The degree of gloom in which the situation is to be seen depends upon the point of view, but in authoritative quarters, both American and French, there is confidence that an equitable compromise exists somewhere in the maze of figures pertaining to the situation. Since Friday Caillaux and his chief aides have been conferring informally from time to time with Mellon and some members of the American commission. As these conferences progressed from a dinner Friday night

FORWARD CAMPAIGN PRAISED BY BLACK

William Candler, general chairman of the Atlanta forward movement, has received the following letter from Eugene R. Black, endorsing the campaign:

"Dear Mr. Candler: I have your letter of September 18, asking my view on the $250,000 advertising campaign for Atlanta.

"I am heartily in favor of this campaign.

"First, because it is sponsored by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Smith, the president of that chamber, has given much time and thought to Atlanta's needs and I am willing to follow and back up his judgment that this advertising campaign is what Atlanta needs right now.

"Second, because proper advertising always pays and this fund raised for advertising the advantages of Atlanta in other sections of the country should return, as all good advertising does, from ten to a hundredfold in profit.

"Third, because this campaign gives Atlanta citizens an opportunity to evidence their faith in Atlanta by rallying to this civic endeavor on behalf of Atlanta.

"In carrying out only these three purposes the campaign should be a success. I realize there are a great many purposes which are equally meritorious, but these three appeal to me.

"With my regards, I am

"Sincerely yours,

"E. R. BLACK."

Police Probing Death of Baby, Found in Creek

Police are conducting an investigation of the discovery Sunday of a fully-developed girl submerged in a stream of water near 422 McDonough road. The child had been wrapped in cloth and placed in a pasteboard box, the police said.

Harlie Butler, of 373 McDonough road; Marion Myers, of 22 Erie street; and Glenn Thomas, of 885 Grant street, were the only persons who saw the child, the police said.

Police Officers J. D. Wood and J. G. Bowman answered the call. The child was taken to the Austin Dillon mortuary.

Coroner Paul Doneho was notified. An inquest will be held at 2:30 o'clock today at the undertaking parlors. Police are of the opinion that the child was killed. No clues were left on the box or about the body to identify the baby. It appeared to be fully developed, weighed about eight pounds, police said.

LEADING ATLANTA CLUBS IN AD DRIVE

They are of stout cloth, well made and of handsome appearance, and are designed to fasten on the backs of cars. Atlantans who desire to aid in the campaign by displaying these banners on their cars for the next two weeks are invited to call for them at campaign headquarters, 13 Auburn street, in the old Haverly building.

The number is limited and first comers will get them.

The 100 captains appointed for the Forward Atlanta drive will meet at the chamber of commerce at noon today to confer with their majors and Colonel George West and will announce appointment of their lieutenants. It will be the largest meeting of the campaign up to this time.

Woman's Club Meeting.

The Atlanta Woman's club will be addressed at 3 o'clock this afternoon by Charles E. Watkins, educational director of the American City bureau and a leader in many civic advertising movements. Mr. Watkins will speak Tuesday at the Kiwanis club luncheon, which will be devoted to the Forward Atlanta campaign, and also address the freshmen class at Georgia Tech, speaking on future citizenship and civic ideals.

"To tell the world what Atlanta has" continue to pour in at headquarters from prominent Atlantans who pledge support and subscriptions. One of these came from a man who has spent several months in Florida.

DECATUR TO DISCUSS CAR RATES TONIGHT

Following official notification by representatives of the Georgia Railway and Power company that service on that part of the North Decatur line, within the city limits, would be stopped at midnight Wednesday, the trolley situation will be discussed at a meeting of the Decatur commission tonight.

No indication has been given as to what course will be pursued by the authorities of the municipality. Mayor Scott Candler was out of the city Sunday and no other official was in a position to state the probable action. Service on the South Decatur line is not affected by the notification.

Similar action was taken by the power company last week with regard to College Park. That town met the situation however by obtaining an injunction from Judge George Bell, of Fulton superior court, preventing suspension of service, pending hearing on October 10.

While no statement has been made by the power company and officials would not discuss the situation, it is understood that the company holds that because College Park and Decatur have contracts for street car service, which definitely fixes rates, these municipalities do not come under supervision of the state service board in so far as rates are concerned. The company's position, it is understood, is that the two contracts should be upheld and that the state service board should be given complete jurisdiction, fixing just and reasonable charges.

"Fine Arts" Members To View Paul Revere House at Meeting

The Fine Arts club of Atlanta, will hold the first meeting of the year at 11 o'clock on Tuesday morning, September 29, at the home of Mrs. Charles Vandy Rainwater in Druid Hills. This gathering will be in the nature of a welcome to the newly elected president, Mrs. Robert Colton Alston. A short business meeting will be held first, when plans for the year will be discussed in open forum. The other officers, after introducing Mrs. Alston, will assist in this organization meeting.

Following the business, Miss Madeline Keppel will give an informal talk on "Antique Pewter, Old Sheffield and Paul Revere Silver." In illustration of these wares, a beautiful and rare collection of pewter and silver, personal possessions of Fine Arts members, will be on exhibit.

As a fitting complement to the program, the members have been invited to visit the famous house of Paul Revere, now transplanted into the olden garden on the Rainwater grounds. The guests will pass through the gate in the cedar log fence, wind up the flagstone path and ring the ancient garden bell before being admitted to the house. Then they will enjoy roaming over this picturesque home, three stories high, faithfully reproduced for the Rainwater boys. This is the first time the house has been opened except to intimate friends, the members of the Fine Arts are expected to take advantage of the unusual opportunity.

All members are requested to present the new cards which have been mailed out. Only those guests may be invited, and cards may be secured from Mrs. Wilmer Moore, 36 West 11th street, before Tuesday morning.

Of more general interest is the announcement by the Fine Arts club of Atlanta of the first appearance in concert in Atlanta of Madame Florence Easton, Tuesday evening, October 13, at the auditorium-annex. The concert by Madame Easton has a double significance, since it is the first time the Fine Arts club has opened a program to the public.

Florence Easton was born in England. Her debut was made at Covent Garden, London. Shortly thereafter she married Francis MacCannan, the noted tenor, and came to America with him to sing with the Sings Grand Opera company. After two seasons with that organization she was engaged for the Berlin opera.

Returning to America in 1915, Easton sang leading roles with the Chicago Opera company and the next year was engaged by the Metropolitan, making her debut as "Santuzza." "Cavalleria Rusticana." Since then her successes in opera, concert and recital have been a triumphant progression.

Florence Easton is now hailed as one of the great singers of this day. Her success in concert has been equally great as in opera, and her clear, exquisitely beautiful voice, approximate the scene of perfection. Realizing the cultural importance of Madame Easton's appearance, the officers of the Fine Arts club will offer tickets within the reach of every music lover. Mail orders will be received and the advance ticket sale will be held at Phillips and Crews, beginning October 1. Prices range from 50 cents to $2 for non-members. Each member may secure a membership card at Phillips and Crews during the open sale.

A program has been arranged by the chairman of missions of the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church in the interest of state missions for Monday, September 28, at 3:30 o'clock, in the annex of that church.

Files Have Disappeared.

There is another incident of significance—the disappearance for several hours from files of one of the departments here of the report which a witness had prepared for presentation to the board last week. This witness left out certain recommendations, as set forth in this report, when he testified before the board.

The missing document was located several hours afterward, and had the appearance of being handled. It is believed that photostatic copies had been made.

Chairman Morrow, it was learned Sunday, will make a short statement before the board when it resumes Monday to hear flying officers of the army and navy. He will emphasize at that time that these officers were called by the board, and were not sent by the war or navy departments, and will make it clear that he wants their personal views and not those of the two departments, which have been presented already and are in the record.

EXPANDED AIR SERVICE WOULD COST $70,000,000

Washington, September 27.—(P)—Disclosure to the president's air board by war department witnesses that the approved project for expansion of the army air service would cost approximately $70,000,000 a year for the first 10 years, and $80,000,000 a year thereafter to maintain a peace time fleet of 2,500 planes and other auxiliary craft served today to bring to light that this is only one of nearly a score of similar projects now under study at the department.

Some of these, which are regarded as even more urgent from a national viewpoint than immediate air service expansion, involve almost equally as large expenditures in addition to present army budget figures. There is much speculation at the department as to whether the president's air board will not find it necessary to weigh these and similar non-air service departments of the navy to some extent before its recommendation for aviation can be formulated.

Founded On Patrick Proposals.

The army extension project, known as the Lassiter board report, or "project No. 4," in staff circles, is based on proposals submitted by Major General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the air service, to Secretary Weeks two years ago, and referred to the board headed by Major General William Lassiter, then on the general staff for findings. It involves a material and personnel expansion program covering ten years to reach a peace strength of 4,000 officers and 25,000 men operating 2,500 planes. The only cost item dealt with by the board was its recommendation that $25,000,000 annual appropriation for new planes and operations.

Subsequent full cost studies presented to the air board by Brigadier General Hugh Drum of the general staff, fixed the annual expenditure required each year for the first 10 years as around $70,000,000 and the continuing cost of upkeep thereafter at $60,000,000.

These figures were based on pay, housing, subsistence, medical, quartermaster, ordinance and signal corps increases necessary for the complete carrying out of the peace-time air project, which represents about one-sixth of the six-field-army, full war strength national defense plan. The air strength on a war footing would be 22,616 officers, 172,920 men and 8,766 planes. No attempt has yet been made to estimate war strength costs.

Annual Plane Replacement.

One item of the continuing cost is the annual plane replacement necessary to maintain a fleet of 2,500 ships

IN PEACE-TIME. THAT HAS BEEN ESTIMATED AT 800 SHIPS, COSTING APPROXIMATELY $12,000,000.

General staff studies have been in progress all year in an effort to round the air service and other similar major projects into an adequate program involving reasonable costs for the gradual development of national defense plans under the act of 1920. An element of the study is the determination of priority to be given each project as it touches on urgent necessities for national security.

The ammunition reserve project is among the major needs which the department is trying to reconcile into a program to be laid before congress. The war stock now on hand is seven years old and the life of artillery ammunition is 20 years and that of small arm cartridges 10 years.

Another major project is the army housing problem, already before congress, with a ten-year building program urged by Secretary Weeks, the total cost to be $113,000,000.

Resentment Aroused.

General Patrick's assertion to the air board that the air service had been treated like a "step child" has aroused considerable resentment among his colleagues in other branches of the army.

Army appropriations as a whole went down last year nearly 5 per cent from the year before, while the air service proportion went up nearly 11 per cent. The cost of other branches is cited by these officers as disproof of the charge. It is also recalled that Secretary Weeks personally assumed responsibility a year ago in asking the budget bureau for supplemental air service appropriations of $8,000,000, making a total of $21,000,000 for that branch. Budget requirements eliminated the $8,000,000 and substituted authority to contract for $2,500,000 in new planes which has been done. The bill will have to be passed in an army budget now being framed.

EDUCATIONAL ALLIANCE TO MEET AT BILTMORE HOTEL, TUESDAY

The first annual meeting of the Atlanta branch of the Southern Woman's Educational Alliance will be held at the Biltmore hotel (mezzanine floor, north end), Tuesday afternoon, September 29, at 3 o'clock.

This meeting, which was postponed from last spring, is a very important one, as reports will be made covering the work of the Atlanta branch since its organization on March 13, 1924. This period falls into two divisions—a preliminary period during which educational and vocational data was collected, and the period from October 15 to date, a little less than a year, when the actual program has been in operation. All members as well as any others who may be interested in the work of the alliance are urged to be present.

Mrs. Samuel M. Inman is president of the Atlanta branch of the alliance. Other officers are: Mrs. Charles A. Conklin, Mrs. E. K. Large, Mrs. Albert E. Thornton, Jr., vice president; Mrs. Blair Foster and Mrs. Rembert Marshall, secretaries; James F. Alexander, treasurer. Eugene R. Black is chairman of the business advisory committee and Dr. J. R. McCain is chairman of the education committee.

When you compare a roof that has been made with the Carey Asfalt-slate Shingle, you should consider the number of years of roof satisfaction you are going to get. Other roofs may appear to be as good; some may appear almost as attractive; but think of them all five, ten or twenty years from now.

The Carey Asfalt-slate Shingle is "the Shingle that Never Curls"—don't forget that point. Here is the most important shingle feature ever known. It marks the difference between "pretty good" shingles and the really good ones.

In red, blue-black and green, you have a choice of three distinctive natural-slate tones, each one of which is harmonious and rich, and will blend artistically with your architectural design. You also can have a 3-thickness roof with 4-inch exposure when you use the Carey Asfalt-slate Shingle.

WHY THAT LAME, Achy Back?

IS a bad back keeping you miserable? Do you get up lame and stiff; drag through the day tired, weak, nervous and depressed?

Then you should know that these ills are often due to faulty kidneys. Once the kidneys fail to rid the blood of impurities, there's a slow poisoning and upsetting of the whole system. Constant backache is apt to follow, with rheumatic twinges, headaches, dizziness and annoying bladder irregularities.

If you have reason to suspect your kidneys, use Doan's Pills. Doan's are for the kidneys only. They are recommended the world over. Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's," Say Atlanta Folks:

W. M. SHEKMAN, prop. of cigar and candy store, 187 S. Boulevard, says: "Sharp pains took me across my kidneys and doubled me up. I had to catch hold of something to help me straighten. My back ached and I had a bad time of it. At night my rest was broken several times by the most frequent action of my kidneys. I used Doan's Pills and they cured me entirely."

MRS. M. STRICKLAND, practical nurse, 530 Woodward Ave., says: "I felt tired and languid and my back ached. My kidneys acted too freely. Doan's Pills from Jacobs Pharmacy cured me entirely." (Statement given January 6, 1923.)

On February 5, 1925, Mrs. Strickland said: "Time hasn't shaken my faith in Doan's for the cure they made me last."

TIME FOR THOUGHT.

Under the caption, "A Danger Florida Must Face and Overcome,"

the Manufacturers' Record sounds

a warning to the permanent residents of that state—those who vote

and are responsible for political,

health, economic and social conditions

in their respective communities—that ought to have quick and conscientious consideration.

Tens of thousands of people are moving upon that state every week.

Many sections are already overrun.

The hotels and boarding houses are crowded and thousands of tents—

numbers of them pitched where there are no modern sanitary conveniences—

are sheltering from the rains and the sun's rays to four on an average under each canopy.

And yet the regular fall and winter

movement has not yet begun.

The people who are contesting

Florida today, aside from the land

operators and the army of "lot"

brokers, are a new element for that state.

Used only to rich winter tourists who go to Florida to escape the cold and disagreeable northern and western climates, and to recreate

in the fishing and yachting waters,

and to join the winter social colonies

at the fashionable resort hotels,

the permanent residents of Florida are today confronted with entirely new types. Those there, or a large number, have been drawn

by the magic tales of land speculating wealth made overnight on small investments, or by the equally magnet-attracting stories about big salaries or high wages, not taking into account the natural flexibility of all business activities built around speculations, or the enormous living expenses that are exacted.

Another large element there,

or rushing there with the fever of a gold standard, is made up entirely of "camp followers" who turn up, like the parasites of a carnival, wherever there is the noise of the ballyhoo and the smell of adventure.

With the state overcrowded even today with these elements, and with the regular winter tourist tide not yet begun, the situation is one that needs to be carefully handled by Floridians. The menacing features can not be hidden, nor can the hazards be minimized. It is a situation that vitally affects Georgia and the entire south—Georgia more so than any other state, except Florida,

in the south.

Florida is one of the nation's most progressive states. It has the largest seacoast, an incomparable

climate, among the world's finest yachting and fishing waters, a rapidly-developing road system, a sound government, generally good laws, and a cosmopolitan citizenship.

Millions of dollars of outside capital have recently poured into the state for developments—mostly in towns and residential properties.

But, on the contrary, enough subdivision "lots" have been cut out of heretofore profitable orange groves, and out of tomato and celery and berry and potato fields, to populate a large number of the people of America.

and other southern journals take.

It is the confidence in Florida, and a recognition of her wonderful opportunities,

and her marvelous spirit

and progress, that make a true friend of the state, and of the southeast, shudder for what is taking place—about to take place, unless the strong right arms of this state take the situation boldly in hand.

The Manufacturers' Record says

further:

"If once, by reason of the shortage of transportation facilities and hotel

accommodations and exorbitant

charges for rooms or for food, Florida

should cause widespread criticism

throughout the land, it would take some years for the state to overcome

that condition."

That is true. Georgia would suffer along with Florida, but another even more important matter must not be overlooked—and that is health. If, due to human congestions

here and there without proper or adequate sewerage, and without pure, wholesome water, and pure, wholesome bathing and other sanitary essentials, there should develop epidemics of fever—even if only malignant types of winter malaria,

or tropic dengue, not only Florida

but the south would get a set-back that a generation could not overcome.

This is a crucial hour for the entire south, and the influences of the Florida situation reach Georgia almost as keenly as Florida. It is a time for thoughtful action with the future in view, as well as the wild land speculations of the present.

SUSPENDED SENTENCES.

There is growing dissatisfaction

in many sections of the country with the practice of suspending the sentences of confessed or convicted criminals.

Judges appear to have set up a system of extorting the prompt payment of fines by imposing accompanying jail or chain-gang terms, with the proviso that should the fine be paid the imprisonment part of the sentence will stand suspended and the convict turned loose upon the community.

Some of the great journals of the country have denounced the practice

as a plain juggling with justice and official defeatism of the main purpose of criminal law.

In several states the practice has been openly challenged by disgusted

prosecutors and it has been found that the judges have no authority,

by constitution or by statute, to suspend a sentence once imposed and recorded.

An inquiry of the attorney general of Georgia elicited the statement that he can find no warrant for such suspended sentences in the constitution or statutes of this state. Yet the practice is daily growing common in our courts.

The general legal consensus seems to be that a sentence once imposed, and not set aside on appeal by a higher tribunal, can only legally be ameliorated or removed by the clemency invested in the governor of the state.

The subject is not only interesting, but is important, especially just now when crime is so rampant and criminals so dangerous to the peace and property of the law-abiding citizen.

GLARING CORRUPTION.

In the recent primaries in Philadelphia a sitting judge in municipal sessions was a candidate for re-election. He was a popular candidate, endorsed freely by the press and vigorously opposed by the machine that controls Philadelphia's local government. Returns showed that in 22 wards not a ballot had been cast for the judge in question.

A great howl went up from people who declared they had voted for him in the wards in which they zeroes were reported. It reached such a volume that it became necessary to take cognizance. Such glaring fraud was too bold, too defiant, too revolting even for Philadelphia, used though it is to just such political practices and corruption.

Speaking of the situation, which is now little less than a national sensation, in pointing the way to what can happen under machine control,

The Baltimore Sun editorially reminds us that—

sexless beings going to and fro in earnings their livelihood in a sun-backs on man in response to feminist propaganda. And Mrs. Bertrand

Russell in "Hypatia," another of the

"Today and Tomorrow Series," pictures the withering influence of man and man-made society on the free and independent woman of today. Marriage to the girl of today is nothing but an abyss of primal submission.

The girl may be lovely, vital and creative until man approaches. "Choose yourself," says the book, "and the school-masters. Choose, say the public authorities who support the church and rather wish women would get out of this indecent profession of urgency and medicine; choose between love and duty to the male and sexless community." Mrs. Russell calls this spirit "mediocrity." Christianity, for it presents a choice between physical pleasure and service to the mind or soul; it upholds the time-honored theory of renunciation

of the world, the flesh and the devil

is the path to duty and salvation.

Russell as the spokesman for the modern woman renounces marriage as a contract based on rights and duties and possession. "Buying and selling of our bodies; a law whose conception of conjugal virtues is sin, punishment

most honest concession is to us, 'We claims, "a trade union of lovers to

WELL KEPT TEETH.

Almost everyone, I suppose, has read Samuel Butler's Erewhon, and found much to approve of in the customs of the country where people were punished for being ill and given medical treatment for stealing and murder. Where illness can be avoided, there really should be a punishment for having it. We have become sufficiently enlightened to put up signs warning people of fines and imprisonment for spitting and such public, disease-threatening nuisances. And one principal of a primary school in a poor district told me he wanted legislation punishing parents for neglecting their children's teeth, adenoids and tonsils, since the clinics provided free treatment.

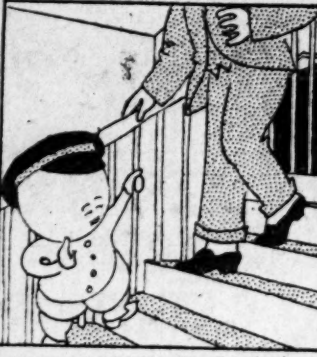

Don't neglect your teeth.

their teeth is as much of a ritual as cleaning their faces and perhaps even more important, they would be spared both pain and expense when they are older. Properly kept teeth do not decay, at least, not very much. The essential thing is to go to a dentist twice a year for a thorough examination for a thorough cleaning of the teeth, to avoid pyorrhea, and for any necessary filling. Fillings will be so small if the dentist is seen regularly, that they won't be painful nor expensive.

For the rest, the teeth should be brushed twice a day with a moderately stiff brush, up and down over teeth and gums, with precipitated chalk or any good prepared dentifrice. If the

Quickening of Retail Trade Felt on Market Last Week

New York, September 27.—(AP)—New business gains were less pronounced last week although a perceptible quickening of retail trade took place. Unmistakable signs of progress were present in nearly all lines of industry, but the improvement in some quarters was more deliberate than the financial and business centers, keyed up to the usual autumn pitch of optimism, had hoped for.

Reports of the steel trade reviews that the industry has engaged in consolidating its late summer gains rather than speeding up its producing activities were mildly disappointing in view of the steady expansion which has recently taken place. The general situation, however, was regarded favorably and another advance in pig iron prices indicated a wider demand for these products.

In summarizing the general business situation, Dun's review reported that "demands in the aggregate were notably large, but buyers, although in some cases extending their forward commitments, continued to operate conservatively and to avoid excessive accumulations of goods. As a result of this policy, which long has been adhered to, business is in a sound position and gives promise of further expansion."

In the financial district the maintenance of this hand-to-mouth buying in virtually all lines of trade has come to be recognized as a more or less permanent policy based upon the railroad's demonstration of ability to effect quick deliveries. The trend away from the old habits of placing heavy forward orders has been accepted as one of the strongest factors in the current stability of business.

The long series of weekly million car freight loadings was broken by general suspension around Labor day, and for the period ended September 12, the number dropped to 975,434 cars, representing decreases compared with the preceding week and the corresponding period last year. The restricted movement of anthracite coal, due to the miners' walkout partly was responsible for the drop.

Evidence accumulated that prolongation of the anthracite strike seriously would affect the prosperity of the hard coal carriers by reducing their operating revenues. On the other hand, business of railroads which tap the bituminous fields has swollen rapidly in the past fortnight. The southwestern roads, it was reported, were beginning to feel that effects of the late summer drought in the region, but so far as August earnings were concerned, they shared in the general improvement.

Weakness of the cotton, grain and sugar markets last week, caused some nervousness in these fields. Cotton prices broke sharply when the government unexpectedly increased its estimate of the 1925 yield and new low levels for the year were established in the grain and sugar markets.

The break in cotton apparently had little effect in the textile industry where manufacturing operations increased. Substantial price reductions in women's wear fabrics for spring were announced by the largest woolen manufacturer and were reported to have stimulated buying.

ROAD SEEKS CAUSE OF FLYER WRECK

Macon, Ga., September 27.—(AP)—Only five victims of the Dixie Flyer wreck at Orchard Hill, near Griffin, Saturday night, remained in Griffin hospitals today. Those in the hospitals today were: W. E. Gregory, engineer, of Macon, badly scalded; J. H. Schroeder, Chicago, contusion on right shoulder and also on right side of back; Mrs. E. H. Ford, Chicago, broken ribs; E. H. Ford, Chicago, slight injuries to back and wrenched shoulder; Lucius Glover, negro, fireman, of Macon, badly scalded, condition serious.

Among those slightly injured was J. D. Gortatowsky, of New York, a former newspaperman of Atlanta, who was bruised on the head. He continued his journey on one of the trains passing through here today. Wreckers from Atlanta and Macon cleared away the debris and made repairs to the side track so that passenger trains that had been held up by the accident, began to pass the scene of the wreck at 2:30 o'clock, Eastern time. The first train reached Macon at 4 o'clock this morning, and the newly-made-up section of the southbound Dixie Flyer, carrying all of the wreck victims who were able to travel, arrived here about 5 a. m., and continued southward.

Railroad officials began an investigation to determine the cause of the wreck. They have not been able to establish the cause. There was no switch at the point of derailment. The engine was required to slow up there. A side track extends along the main line for a considerable distance each side of the engine. The engine, so far as could be ascertained, was in perfect condition. Conductor William Mabry, of Macon, who was in the second car, reported that in his opinion the locomotive left the rails first and carried nine Pullmans with it, seven of them turning over on their sides. Two of the cars laid horizontally across the Dixie highway at the scene of the derailment, being thrown clear of the rails. They blocked traffic on the Dixie highway, forcing motorists to get off the pavement. Hundreds of people from Atlanta and Macon pointed the scene of the wreck today.

All but three of the Pullmans were placed on the rails late today. A trophic has been given by Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor company, and on it will be engraved the names of all those who finish the tour under the rules. An elongated loop marks the itinerary of the tour. The first day the aerial tourists will visit Fort Wayne, Ind., and Chicago. On Tuesday they are to go to St. Louis, Mo., and then to Des Moines, Iowa, Omaha, Neb., and Kansas City, Mo., where they will continue to Columbus, Ohio, with a stop at Indianapolis. The planes will return to Detroit Saturday after descending at Cleveland.

Most of the planes that will participate have arrived, flying overland from Wichita, Kansas, Troy, Ohio, and New York city. While the tour is in progress, the Ford airport will be given over to a large aircraft exposition. Shortly after the last plane leaves on the tour, the Ford airport will be given over to a large aircraft exposition. ## WALL STREET BRIEFS

New York, September 27.—The American Smelting and Refining company earned $7.50 a share on the common stock in the first half of 1925, or at the annual rate of $15.00 a share, after all deductions such as bond interest, depreciation, taxes and preferred dividends. The company's earnings for the entire year are expected to be $15.00 a share, or at the annual rate of $30.00 a share, after all deductions such as bond interest, depreciation, taxes and preferred dividends. The company's earnings for the entire year are expected to be $15.00 a share, or at the annual rate of $30.00 a share, after all deductions such as bond interest, depreciation, taxes and preferred dividends.

In a statement to stockholders, Simon Guggenheim, president, said the half year showed a continuation of the steady improvement in the company's affairs which has been manifest for several years past. Earnings on the common stock amounted to $4,628,916. There is no indebtedness to banks and the company has on hand, in cash, call loans, bank deposits, and government securities $27,680,141, an increase of $1,374,122 over December 31, 1924.

August was another month of prosperity for the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, gross revenues having been considerably augmented through heavier than normal shipments of coal in anticipation of the strike. The total of $11,330,353 was an increase of $780,000 over the corresponding period last year, and a gain of $801,833 in the corresponding period last year.

Interest rates have already advanced to a point that abnormally easy money need no longer be feared as an artificial and unwholesome stimulus to business expansion, the Guaranty Trust company asserts in its monthly survey of business. The financial situation, however, is reported to be little improved, and there is little prospect that business activity in the near future will receive any setback from the money market. Both bank loans and interest rates reflect a growing demand for funds.

Public offering will be made tomorrow of 65,100 shares of preferred stock of Central and Southwest Utilities company at $30 a share, to yield 6 per cent. The preferred stock carries warrants giving the right to buy at $30 a share a share of common stock for each share of preferred held. A new issue of $2,500,000 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock of the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company, series of 1925, also will be offered at $94 a share, more than 7.10 per cent. The company manufactures all-steel automobile bodies.

BRITISH NOBLEWOMEN QUALIFY AS TYPISTS

London, September 27.—(AP)—Titled typists have appeared in the ranks of London's business affairs, and reports say that they have made good in every respect. The latest to take similar careers is Lady Constance Howard, sister of Lord Carlisle, who recently entered the service of a well-known firm as stenographer and secretary to the manager.

The Howards have always been considered an interesting and unconventional family in English social circles. It was the famous Rosalind, Countess of Carlisle, who, holding temperance views, had all the alcoholic contents of the cellars at Castle Howard poured into the drains.

PLANS AT THOMASTON FOR UPSON FARM FAIR

SPANISH-AMERICAN VETS MEET TODAY

St. Petersburg, Fla., September 27.—(AP)—By rail, automobile and on foot, thousands of delegates and visitors to the 27th annual national encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans arrived here today. Trains tonight were still coming into the city bringing many other veterans.

Adjutant General James J. Murphy, of Washington, D. C., announced that he expected this to be the largest encampment that the Spanish war veterans have ever held. Many prominent citizens arrived today. Among them were Major General William Stopford, U. S. A., retired, now mayor of Beverly, Mass.; Colonel Fred A. Stopford, of the First Corps area; United States Senator H. O. Bursum, of New Mexico; General Winfred Scott, U. S. A., retired, now commissioner of pensions at Washington, D. C., and Rev. Sam Small, evangelist, candidate for national chaplain.

Hundreds of clerks were kept busy at registration booths throughout the day. The delegates and visitors spent the time in renewing old acquaintances and discussing the probable action of the convention. Chief interest is centered upon the new service situation and the plan to have the pensions of the Spanish war veterans increased. Lobby talk is to the effect that the organization of the veterans should endorse the stand for Colonel William Mitchell, depose assistant air chief, and that the next congress should increase the pensions. Adjutant General Murphy stated that while he did not think the organization would take a stand on the question, if a resolution were placed before the veterans endorsing the stand of Colonel Mitchell, it would be quite a feat.

It has also been announced that a resolution would be placed before the convention, proposing to establish a service bureau for Spanish war veterans similar to that of the American legion. Memorial services were held tonight for the dead of the Spanish-American war. John J. Lawless, of General Leonard Wood post, this city, presided and read a message from the War Department, delivered the memorial address.

29TH CHILD IS BORN TO SPANISH WOMAN AT RIPE AGE OF 68

Valadolid, Spain, September 27.—Senora Camille Lorenzo has given birth to her 29th child—a son—at the age of 68. It is believed that this is a record for modern times, although the Bible records that Sarah gave birth to Isaac when over 90 years old. Only one woman in 3,300 gives birth to a child after reaching 50 years of age, physicians say.

$1,000,000 CONTRACT FOR NEW COACHES IS LET BY L. & N.

Louisville, Ky., September 27.—(AP) Contracts for the construction of $1,000,000 worth of coaches and baggage cars were awarded here by the Louisville and Nashville railroad. ## HANCOCK WARRANTS SOUGHT BY BUYERS AS INVESTMENTS

Sparta, Ga., September 27.—(Special)—Investment seekers in outstanding Hancock county warrants have sought out G. W. Rives, chairman; A. B. Gordon and C. M. Layson, members of the board of roads and revenues of Hancock county, during the last few weeks, with a view of investing in county obligations, in warrant form, according to Mr. Rives.

Time was when outstanding Hancock county warrants were in a state of dishonor, so to speak, but they have been restored to a position of prestige which is a source of pleasure to the members of the county board of revenues and the public generally.

EUGENE FARMER, SR., DIES AT LOUISVILLE

Louisville, Ga., September 27.—(Special)—Eugene Farmer, Sr., one of Louisville and Jefferson county's esteemed citizens, died suddenly here Friday night. Mr. Farmer was 83 years old and was for some years tax receiver of the county and in the last few years has been manager of the Pliers Cotton Warehouse.

He sat at his work Friday and on the streets that night, being stricken in his car en route home with paralysis of the lungs. Although medical aid was secured almost immediately, he expired on the front porch of his home while being taken into the house. He is survived by his widow; one son, Eugene Farmer, Jr., and one daughter, Mrs. Ernest Hesse, of Charleston, and two sisters, Mrs. R. L. Bostick and Mrs. C. A. Rawlings. Funeral and interment were held Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

WOMAN DRINKS LYSOL Mrs. Clara Phillips Reported Dying at Grady.

Mrs. Clara Phillips, of 232 Courtland street, is at Grady hospital, believed to be in a dying condition from the effects of lysol, which she drank Sunday night in the bedroom of her home. She is unconscious and police have not yet learned the cause of her act. Detectives are conducting an investigation.

THOMASVILLE STARTS FALL HOG SALES SOON

Thomasville, Ga., September 27.—(Special)—The eagerness of the farmers to get their cotton picked, interfered with the hog sales of this section the past month or two, but it is expected that with that crop practically gathered by the end of the month, the cooperative hog sales will be as successful as they were last year. These sales were started in Thomasville a year ago and the result shows that the farmers of the county received $54,933.13 for the sale of hogs, which means that some of the farmers received a considerable amount of money from their hog crop.

When these sales were first started by the efforts of county agent Pat Ward and one of two of Thomasville's public spirited men, the farmers were rather doubtful as to their success and some of them did not bring in their hogs for the first sale, but when they found the fine prices received, they realized what it meant to them and these sales have become very popular.

They are also a great incentive to the raising of fine hogs in the county. Knoxville, Tenn., September 27.—(AP)—The third case on the docket of the Tennessee supreme court, which convenes here tomorrow, the suit of John Thomas Scopes vs. State of Tennessee, defendant in error, will be passed to the heel of the docket tomorrow if motion of Scopes' counsel, Dr. John B. Neal, is granted. According to information from Nashville, the state will join with a similar motion.
